PREFACE

The Census of India, 2001 has been the 14th continuous and uninterrupted Indian Census since 1872. It has also been the first Census of the third millennium and 21st century. The final population data and its basic characteristics presented in this publication are based on the processing, editing and tabulation of actual data captured through scanning of the Household Schedule at the population enumeration phase of Census of India 2001. The first part of General Population Tables containing Tables A-1, A-2 and A-3 has already been published. The present volume is the second part of General Population Tables i.e. Table A-4 giving data pertaining to Towns and Urban Agglomerations classified by population size class in 2001 with variations since 1901.

2. Table A-4 give all the towns including urban agglomerations and their population by sex since 1901, its decadal variation, status and area figures from 1961 censuses. The towns/cities/urban agglomerations have been arranged in the order of population size and class of towns.

3. I take this opportunity to express my gratitude to all the Directors of Census Operations and their team of dedicated officers and staff, who have got the Table A-4 and its appendices compiled and sent them to the office of the Registrar General India for further scrutiny and consolidation.

4. The arduous task of scrutiny and compilation of table and appendices and preparation of general note for India has been carried out by Census Division. I shall like to acknowledge my sincere appreciation for the efforts put in by Shri R.C. Sethi, Additional Registrar General, India, Shri D. Roy Choudhury, Deputy Registrar General (C&T), Shri Anand Kumar, Joint Director and Shri Jagan Lal, Deputy Director who prepared the draft manuscript of this Volume. They deserve my special thanks.

5. The names of the other members of the staff of this office closely associated with bringing out this publication are acknowledged separately. I am thankful to all of them. I hope this publication will prove useful to the administrators, planners, demographers and other data users.

GENERAL NOTE

The first census of the third millennium and twenty first century conducted in 2001 has been the 14th continuous and uninterrupted Indian Census since 1872. Thus, 2001 Census while providing data on population and its characteristics, will also made a transition from one century and millennium to another. This data will form the benchmark for framing of the welfare and development policies for billion plus human beings living in this country.

Till 1931, census was a one night affair which mainly aimed at presenting a snapshot of the country's population. But since 1941 and up to 1991 Census, count was staggered and enumeration was being done on Individual Slips. However, in 2001 enumeration has been done on Household Schedules. The questionnaire has thus gone on changing according to the changing needs and requirements of the society and the country.

As a general rule, every person has to be enumerated at his normal place of residence, except those who are away from their normal places of residence through out the period of count. These persons have been enumerated at the place where they were first found by an enumerator during the enumeration period or during his revisional round. Houseless persons have been to be enumerated at the places they were found on the night of 28th February, 2001.

The Census Act, 1948, forms the legal basis for conduct of population censuses in independent India. As in the past, the Census of India, 2001 has been conducted in two phases. During the first phase, the Houselisting Operation was conducted between April to September, 2000 in different states and union territories as a prelude to the exercise of undertaking the decennial population Census. The second phase of census i.e. Population Enumeration, was undertaken between February, 9th to 28th February (both days inclusive) with a revisional round from 1st to 5th March, 2001. The Census moment was 00.00 hours of 1st March, 2001, the referral time at which the snapshot of the population of the country was taken. This was a departure from the earlier census tradition, as until the 1991 Census (except 1971), the sunrise of 1st March of the relevant Census year was the census moment. The enumeration of houseless population was carried out on the night of February 28, 2001.

This gigantic operation, (considered by many to be the single largest and complex peace time administrative exercise in the world) was made possible due to the door to door universal canvassing of the Household Schedule by about 2 million enumerators and supervisors covering 593 districts, 5,464 sub-districts, 5,161 towns and 638,588 villages. The comprehensive Household Schedule which replaced the individual slip had three parts and two sides A and B. Part I contained the Location Particulars; Part II related to the Individual Particulars and Part III contained questions for Household engaged in Cultivation/Plantation (Annexure-I). The Part II of the Household Schedule had 39 columns and 23 questions all of which were universally canvassed and no sampling was resorted to during enumeration. To facilitate quick tabulation for bringing out Provisional Population Totals, provision for page totaling was made in the schedule itself for a few items namely population, males, females, population aged 0-6 years by sex, literates and workers and their categories by sex. The provisional population totals were put in the public domain on 26th March, 2001 i.e. within three weeks of the completion of the enumeration. Provisional Population Paper-I of 2001 and Supplement to Provisional Population-I of 2001 provided the basic statistics of the population, literates upto district level classified by sex. The Directorates of Census Operations also released provisional data at the district, sub-district and town levels for their respective States/UTs through the publication of Paper I, II and III of Provisional Population Totals. Subsequently, the distribution of population by rural and urban areas and economic activity characteristics of the population by rural and urban areas at district/sub-district/town level were also released in electronic format at the national level and print form at the state level. All the provisional population totals released so far are also available on census website : <http://www.censusindia.gov.in>

In certain inaccessible and snow bound areas of the country, population enumeration was preponed for administrative and technical convenience and carried out non-synchronously. Thus in Jammu & Kashmir and certain snow bound areas of Himachal Pradesh and Uttaranchal the population enumeration was conducted during 11th–30th September, 2000 with the revisional round from 1st to 5th October, 2000. In Kinnaur district of Himachal Pradesh, the population enumeration had to be deferred due to flash floods in August 2000 and was conducted from 12th to 31st May, 2001 with reference date as 1st June, 2001. In Jammu and Kashmir, due to certain constraints, the enumeration period was extended from 1st October, 2000 to 15th November, 2000 with the reference date of 16th November, 2000 in the six districts viz., Srinagar, Badgam, Anantnag, Baramulla, Kupwara and Pulwama of Kashmir Valley and four blocks namely, Banihal, Ramso, Marwa and Wardhwan of Doda district in Jammu Division. It was further extended in Srinagar town and Pulwama districts until 15th December, 2000 with reference date being 16th December, 2000.

Further, due to the devastating earthquake in Gujarat on 26th January, 2001 just two weeks prior to the commencement of the nation wide population enumeration, the canvassing of the schedule in the affected areas of Gujarat had to be postponed. The affected areas included the entire district of Kachchh, the taluk of Morvi, Maliya-Miana and Wankaner in Rajkot district and Jodiya taluka in Jamnagar district. The population enumeration in these areas was undertaken during 9th – 28th February, 2002.

In addition to the provisional population totals, the final results of the Houselisting Operations were released in April, 2003 which provided valuable information on the housing stock, amenities and assets available to the household which is available in the publication 'Tables on Houses, Household Amenities and Assets by India and States'. Similar publications are also available for the Scheduled Caste and the Scheduled Tribe households separately. This data is also available in printed form and electronic format for India and all the states/union territories at district, sub-district and town level. The Houselisting data can be immensely useful to the policy makers, planners and administrators to improve the quality of life for countrymen as well to the corporate sector for formulating marketing strategies in reaching the rural masses.

A quantum leap has been made in the technology front while processing the census 2001 data both for Houselisting and population Enumeration. The Schedules for both the phases were scanned through high speed scanners in fifteen data centres across the country and hand-written data from the schedules were converted into digitized form through Intelligent Character Reading (ICR) software for creation of ASCII records for further processing. The designing and formatting of the Household Schedule had to be done very carefully using specialized software so as to ensure uniformity, which was an essential prerequisite for scanning. The selection of appropriate state-of-art technology in data processing has made it possible to produce all the Houselisting as well as population Enumeration tables on full count basis for the first time in the history of Census. For Census 2001, about 202 million schedules consisting of about 1028 million records were scanned and processed within a span of only 10 months starting October, 2002.

After the data is processed, it is essential on the part of the data producing agency to satisfy itself about its quality before putting the same in public domain. This has to be done mainly through the process of internal consistency, comparison with similar data in the past and also through validation with likewise data if available, from external sources. Quite often, the local knowledge and perception has to be brought into play to understand both the existing and the new emerging trends of population distribution and characteristics. The other very important aspect of the data quality is to ensure complete coverage of all geographical areas specially for the population enumeration phase where the data is disseminated right up to the village level in the rural areas and the ward level in the urban areas. Thus, ensuring the complete coverage and correct geographical linkage of each enumeration block has always been one of the major planks of the quality control, especially for small area population statistic.

A very comprehensive check and edit mechanism was put in place to objectively examine the preliminary Census 2001 population Enumeration results and finally clear them for use. The responsibility for the final clearance of data was with the Task Force on Quality Assurance (TFQA), headed by the Registrar General and Census Commissioner, India. The other members of the TFQA were the Heads and senior officers of the Census Division, Data Processing Division, Map

Division, Demography Division and Social Studies Division. The Directors of Census Operations were co-opted as members whenever the TFQA discussed the data for their states/union territories. The Directors and their senior officers were required to make detailed presentations of data for their own state both in respect to the quality and coverage and only after the full possible satisfaction of the TFQA, the population data has been cleared.

The preparations for the 2001 Census of India had commenced in 2000. First item of Preliminary work related to the preparation of up to date list of villages and towns at state or union territory/district/tahsil/town levels in view of the various jurisdictional changes that had taken place since 1991 Census. Draft questionnaires were developed based on past experience, the needs of the country to be served by the Census data, willingness of the people and response to the topics and the ability of the enumerators in understanding the definition and concepts. The questionnaires were presented at the first data users conference which was held during April, 1998 and attended by the representative of the important Ministries of the Government of India, the Planning Commission, the CSO, the State Governments, Universities, Demographic and Population Institutes, Expert and Research institutions, and Individual experts and Scholars. Based on the deliberations in the Conference, the questionnaires were amended and placed before the advisory Committee on Technical Issues Connected with holding the Census, which was appointed by the Government of India in February, 1998. The questionnaires were again considered by the Action Committee and finalised by the Government. The final questionnaires were again considered by the Action Committee and finalised by the Government. The final questionnaires developed were (1) Houselist (2) the Household Schedule.

The first Directors Conference was held from 23rd September to 25th September, 1999 at Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi in which topics related to State hierarchy, Rural and Urban frame work, formation of Urban Agglomeration, preparatory steps for conducting houselisting operation in the State, finalization of lists of Districts and Tahsils, Allotment of Location Codes to each village, delineation of houselisting Blocks, preparation of Charge Registers, Selection and appointment of Enumerators/Supervisors/Charge

Officers, arrangements for distribution of material for houselisting, supervision during houselisting, publicity measures for houselisting, etc., were discussed in detail.

The second conference of Directors of Census operations was held at New Delhi from 3rd to 5th February 2000 to review the preparatory work and arrangements for houselisting operations, storing and distribution of schedules/ instructions for houselisting Operations, disposal of 1991 Census records, discussion on houselist schedule and instruction manual, delineation of population enumeration blocks and preparation of abridge houselist and publicity for Census of India-2001 were discussed.

In third Directors Conference held at New Delhi on 26th & 27th May 2000, the format of household schedule to be canvassed during the Census, manual for household schedule were discussed. Training conducted during houselisting Operations and training strategies proposed to be adopted and publicity measures to be taken to sensitize the public and awareness about the importance of Census.

During fourth Conference, held on 13th & 14th Nov, 2000 at New Delhi, position of receipt of houselisting record and its safe storage. Creation of population enumeration blocks & status of the work of preparation of abridged houselist and training programme of Master Trainers etc., was discussed.

The fifth and last Conference of Directors was held at New Delhi from 18th-20th December, 2001 in which progress of preparation of Provisional Paper-2 and 3, Village/Town Directories, methodology for checking of houselisting tables and finalization of PCA were discussed. Steps taken for pre-scanning arrangements for houselist schedules and household schedules were reviewed.

The following new questions were added in the Houselist Schedule of the Census 2001 :

- (i) The condition of residential or partly residential houses was categorized as good, livable or dilapidated (Column 8). (This was mainly based on perception of the respondents).
- (ii) A question on the number of married couple(s) living in the household was introduced (Column 18).
- (iii) Information was sought on the number of married couple(s) having independent rooms for sleeping (Column 19).

- (iv) Information on whether wastewater outlet was connected to closed drainage or open drainage or no drainage (Column 24).
- (v) Availability of bathroom within the house (Column 25).
- (vi) Availability of kitchen within the house (Column 26).
- (vii) Availability of certain assets to the households, namely, radio/transistor, television, telephone, bicycle, scooter/motorcycle/moped, car/jeep/ vans (Column 28-33).
- (viii) Availability of banking services (Column 34).

Besides adding new questions, improvement was also made in the format of Houselist Schedule of Census 2001 by modifying certain questions as shown below :

For the first time, different uses of census houses were standardised and grouped into ten main uses and assigned code numbers (Column 7).

- a. Plastic/Polythene was added in the list of materials of wall and roof of a census house (Columns 5 & 6).
- b. 'Outside premises' as a category of the location of drinking water source was further split up into two categories, namely, 'near the premises' and away from the premises' (Column 21).
- c. 'No lighting' was included as a response to the question on source of lighting along with other sources, namely, electricity, kerosene, solar, other oil and any other source (Column 22).
- d. Specific information on availability of type of latrine within the house by the type of latrine was collected for all areas (Column 23).

House Listing

The following details were canvassed by the Census Enumerator during Houselisting.

- Fuel used for cooking
- Availability of Radio/Transistor
- Availability of Television
- Availability of Telephone
- Availability of Bicycle
- Availability of Scooter/Motor Cycle/Moped
- Availability of Car/Jeep/Van
- Availing Banking Services

Household Schedule

The Household Schedule adopted for the population Enumeration also primarily had pre-coded options for majority of the questions. The questions for each data item were made self-explanatory as far as possible for easy understanding. The comprehensive Household Schedule had three parts and two sides A and B. Part I contained the Location Particulars; Part II related to Individual particulars and Part III contained questions for Households engaged in Cultivation/Plantation. It consisted of 39 columns as against 34 in 1991 Census and had been so designed as to record the data on Mother tongue and Religion of each individual. This was done for the expeditious computerised tabulation for the following :

- (i) Primary Census Abstract with four fold industrial categories of both Main Workers and Marginal Workers upto village level or ward of a town. The basic Census data to be presented for each CD Block in rural areas all over the country in addition to other level like Tahsil/Taluka/District/State or UTs.
- (ii) The mother tongue and religion data upto Tahsil/Town level. This will help releasing these tables which are in great demand within a reasonable time after conducting the Census.

Three types of Households viz: Normal, Institutional and Houseless household were recorded. Cols. 1 to 7 of Household Schedule were to be filled up before the enumeration of individual was taken up. These related to Serial No., Name, Relationship to Head, Sex (M.F.), Age and Marital Status of the member of the household. This helped in counting all members of the Household without missing none and in recording the age of the individual more precisely. Cols. 8 to 39 of the Household Scheduled pertained to General Social-cultural Characteristics, Characteristics of Workers and Non-Workers, Migration Characteristics and Fertility particulars. The particulars entered into the Household Schedule were to be treated as confidential.

Most of the questions canvassed during the 1991 Census, were retained for the 2001 Census, except the question on ex-serviceman. However, a number of new questions were added in the Household Schedule in view of the suggestions from policy makers, data users and researchers, while the scope of certain existing questions was modified. These changes were :

1. Age at marriage was collected for males also, while it was collected for only ever-married females until the 1991 Census.
2. The type of educational institution attended by a person were school, college, vocational institute, other institute and literacy center in 2001 instead of school and college in 1991 census.

3. The scope of the definition of 'work' was expanded in the Census of India, 2001, to include production of milk for domestic consumption. In the 1991 Census, cultivation of certain crops even for self-consumption was treated as economic activity. The scope of the term 'Cultivation' was expanded in this Census to include certain other crops such as tobacco, fruits, all types of flowers, roots and tubers, potatoes, chillies and turmeric, pepper, cardamom, all types of vegetables and fodder crops etc. This meant that activities related to production of all the above mentioned crops including that for domestic consumption were treated as work. Only five crops viz. Tea, coffee, rubber, coconut and betel nuts were classified under 'plantation' in the Census of India, 2001.
4. At the 1991 Census, the question on seeking/available for work was canvassed for only non-workers. At the Census of India, 2001, this question was asked to the Marginal Workers also. A question to elicit information on secondary work of Main Workers canvassed at the 1991 Census was dropped.
5. From among the categories of non-workers adopted at the 1991 Census, the category 'Inmates of institutions' was dropped and 'Retired Persons and Rentiers' was replaced by the category 'Pensioners'.
6. A new response category 'Moved after birth' was included in the question on 'reasons for migration'. Natural calamities as a reason for migration from last residence included in the 1991 Census was excluded.
7. Number of children born alive to currently married women during last one year was collected with gender break up.

Besides the above modifications, the following new questions were canvassed at the 2001 Census :

1. A question on total disability was canvassed in the 1981 Census. In the 1991 Census, no question on disability was included. In 2001, a question to elicit information on total or partial disability was canvassed. The five types of disability on which information was collected were – in seeing, in hearing, in speech, in movement and mental. Unlike in 1981 Census these questions were canvassed during population Census.

2. A new question on 'Travel to place of work' was canvassed mainly for workers engaged in non-agricultural activities. Information on distance from the residence to place of work and mode of travel to place of work was collected under this section.
3. The Household Schedule had a new set of questions for households engaged in cultivation/plantation – i) Net area of land under cultivation/plantation, ii) Net area of land irrigated and iii) Tenure status. This question was not canvassed at the 1991 Census but was canvassed in the 1981 Census in a slightly different form.
4. The signature or thumb impression of the respondent has been taken on the Household Schedule for the first time in the history of census. This was not only aimed at obtaining correct and complete information but for giving an opportunity to the respondents to authenticate the information provided by them. The relationship of the respondent with the head of the household was also obtained. This new feature will pave way in carrying out a methodological study in future on the respondent profile in the census.

Preparation of Maps

A Census must ensure that every person in the country is enumerated only once and without any omission. In order to achieve this, maps for all districts, taluks, tahsils, Community Development Blocks and ultimately for every village and town were prepared. Taking all jurisdictional changes that occurred after 1991 Census into consideration all administrative boundaries were made up-to-date. After identifying every village and town on a taluk/tahsil map/Community Development Block code numbers were allotted to each of these units which were to be fully accounted for at the Census. Notional maps of every village and every ward/block of a town were prepared, showing location of every house. The notional maps, proved extremely helpful at the time of enumeration. They served as the frame for the clear demarcation of the enumerator's jurisdiction and enabled him to cover every household in his block and take note of additions that might have taken place after the preparation of notional map.

The Census Hierarchy

The Registrar General and Census Commissioner of India is responsible for conducting the population census which is a union subject under the charge of the Ministry of Home Affairs. He is assisted by several officers who look after the different branches of work within his office. Except Dadra & Nagar Haveli and Daman & Diu, every State and Union Territory has a permanent Directorate.

For each state and union territory an officer is appointed as Director of Census operations. He is directly responsible to the Census Commissioner of India for organising and supervising the census operations within his area. For 2001 Census, the Directors of Census Operations were in position by May, 2000. The Directors were assisted by a number of Deputy/Assistant Directors. Independent Census Directorates for three newly created States viz. Uttaranchal, Jharkhand and Chhattisgarh were not established. The Director of Census Operations Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Madhya Pradesh were designated as Directors of Census Operations of Uttaranchal, Jharkhand and Chhattisgarh respectively.

It has been the Indian tradition that in view of the national importance of the census, the entire administrative machinery of the state and local government is also called upon to assist the state Directors of Census Operations in census work. The 2001 Census hierarchy in the state or union territory followed the normal administrative set up. For each district, the administrative head of the district (the district collector) was designated as the district census officer who undertook the census duties in addition to his normal duties. In certain cases, however, some senior officer of the district collector's establishment worked as district census officer, although the district officer himself remained responsible for the proper conduct of the census operations. The district census officer was responsible for demarcating the census jurisdiction within the district, appointing and training enumeration personnel and the execution and supervision at every stage of census operations. The district was sub-divided into tehsils, talukas, thanas, sub-division., blocks, police station etc., according to the administrative set up obtaining in each state. The chief administrative officer of each of the administrative divisions such as the tehsildar, block development officer was appointed as census charge officer for his area. Large cities were treated as separate census charge and the executive officer of the civic body appointed as census charge officer. For area such as military camps, project area, special industrial areas, railway colonies etc., special charge officers from the organisations concerned were appointed. All these officers were required to attend to census duties as part of his normal work. The smallest administrative unit was the village or town. For each village and each town, enumeration blocks were formed in such a way that each block covered about 750 population in rural areas and 600 in urban areas. For each of these enumeration blocks, a census enumerator was appointed. Some reserve personnel were also appointed and trained. Normally, a primary school teacher or village patwari or some other village level official in rural areas and teachers or clerical staff or other staff of local offices in urban areas were appointed as the census enumerators. A census supervisor supervised and guided the work of five or six enumerators. The supervisors were generally officials of the state or local bodies of a status higher than those appointed as enumerators. The enumerators and supervisors were also basically part-time honorary workers who undertook the census work more out of a sense of duty and spirit to help a great national task. There was a large number of census charge officers and district census officers who were all part-time workers.

The enumeration staff performed their duties more as a labour of love. Till the 1951 census the enumerators were not paid anything at all. From 1961 onwards a small honorarium to each enumerator and supervisor was paid. This practice continued in 1971, 1981, 1991 and 2001 censuses also.

New Features of the Census of India, 2001

Several new innovations have been introduced at almost all the stages of the Census of India 2001 right from the preparatory efforts to the data processing and dissemination stage. This includes certain fundamental changes in the form and contents of the Houselist and Household schedules, while maintaining the continuity and comparability of the basic housing and population characteristics with the earlier census. Some of the new features introduced and innovations made in the Census of India 2001 are listed and discussed below.

Permanent Location Code Number

One of the important inputs in census taking is assigning of the Location Code Numbers at various administrative levels. The Location Code Number is a simple device by which every compact geographical area in any administrative unit can be uniquely identified. Each such administrative unit starting from State right down to the village/ward can be referred to by a combination of such unique numbers. Until the 1991 Census, a hierarchical coding system was followed, whereby each administrative unit was coded within the next higher administrative unit serially and systematically following a geographical order.

The frequent changes in district and sub-district administrative units during the inter-censal period posed several problems of study in changes in growth and distribution of population and their characteristics from one census to another. For the Census of India, 2001, a system of Permanent Location Code Numbers (PCLN) has been adopted by assigning to each village within the State/UT a continuous series from 1 to N. Each village has been assigned an eight digit code. The first six digit represent the code of the village as existing at the present census. The last two digits being "00" are kept for accommodating future changes in case of split of an existing village or creation of new villages etc. Since the Permanent Location Codes have been assigned to each village, theoretically tracing the precise location of village on account of future jurisdictional changes in the boundaries of various administrative areas within the state should not pose a problem. It is imperative that under this scheme, the PLCN assigned to villages at the Census of India, 2001, are adopted in future censuses also to ensure the comparability of the data at the village and other administrative levels over a long time series.

Formation and Identification of Slum Enumeration Block

The phenomenon of rapid urbanization coupled with industrialization and growth in manufacturing and commercial centers leads to surfacing of slums. In various states, the slums are known by different local names officially and unofficially but the basic characteristics of slums remains the same such as inadequate lighting, lack of safe drinking water, absence of toilet facilities and non-availability of basic social and health services. Slum enumeration Blocks were identified for the first time in census, in each Municipal town having a population of 50,000. Instructions were issued that these Enumeration blocks do not cut across ward boundaries or non-slum area. It will thus be possible to compile and tabulate special tables for 'slums'. This will enable the planners and administrators to visualize the impact and pressure on urban infrastructure and amenities on one hand and graphically capture the housing and demographic conditions of slum dwellers on the other.

Training – Inputs

Training has always been recognized as one of the most vital inputs for smooth and successful conduct of census. It is not a routine job, as it requires clear understanding of several census concepts. The enumerators are also to be reminded about the sensitivity of the different questions that are canvassed and given tips on the probing techniques. The training classes have to be properly structured with the right emphasis on each of the questions. The training strategies were chalked out well ahead of time for the Census of India, 2001. The Instruction Manuals for the Houselisting Operations and Population Enumeration were written up very elaborately, covering every possible situation so that the enumerators and supervisors can find solutions to all their problems that may arise during the course of their fieldwork. The Instruction Manuals also contained a number of appropriate examples and illustrations including filled-in sample schedules and probing methods for guidance of the enumerators.

The training of census officers in the Directorate of Census Operations started very early with the formation of four Analytical Groups as early as October, 1999. These Analytical Group meetings provided a platform to the census officers at all levels in the Directorates to analyse and review the several aspects of the quality and coverage of census data on Housing and population characteristics. The Director and at least one senior officer from each Directorate were trained in various census concepts in great details at these meetings. The Directors and their senior officers then took upon themselves the responsibility of training of other officials of her/his Directorate and all other field census functionaries starting from the Principal Census Officer (District Collectors/Municipal Commissioners) to the Charge Officers (Tahsildars, Block Development Officer, Executive Officer of Municipalities etc.).

It has been our experience in the previous censuses that though the Charge Officers were mainly entrusted with the duties of imparting training to enumerators and supervisors, yet its impact was not uniform. The Charge Officers who are mainly drawn from Tahsildars, BDOs, Executive Officers of Municipal Council etc., were found to be largely pre-occupied with day-to-day administrative work and in some parts of the country could hardly devote continuously the time required to conduct a complete and proper training. Therefore, in a major departure from the past, a separate well equipped team of trainers called the 'Master Trainers' was created and engaged for training of enumerator and supervisor. These Master Trainers were mainly drawn from among experienced Lecturers, Principals and other Government officials with good oratory and training skills. They were trained intensively at the district level and in a few states at the state level. This enthusiastic brigade of Master Trainers in turn usually imparted training to enumerators and supervisors in a phased manner.

The training classes were by and large restricted to 70-80 participants per class. The traditional mode such as reading and explaining from the Instruction Manual, the chalk and blackboard approach and flip charts were also used in these training classes. To make the training sessions interactive and interesting a number of training modules were conceived, devised and some NGOs also chipped in by participating in the training classes particularly for the questions on disability. In addition to the traditional approach this training was also supplemented with video films, audiocassettes, power point presentations, overhead slide projectors, question –answers, mock demonstrations etc. A combination of different modules was used according to the local requirements. The practical training was made a compulsory part of all training sessions. Each census functionary was insisted upon to fill in five practice blue Household Schedules as a part of the practical training. The supervisory officer/Master Trainer checked these practice schedules and common discrepancies and mistakes were clarified on an individual basis as also in an open forum in the presence of all enumerators and supervisors before the final round of training.

A team of dedicated and specially selected Census Advisors imparted special training to Enumerators/Supervisors in more than two hundred districts on gender related issues in Census of India, 2001. In these training sessions correct capture of age data, female population and their economic pursuits were emphasized with the help of census data and training modules. For each district, a group of very experienced and trained directorate officials was deputed to back-up these training efforts. The Directors and other senior officials undertook intensive training to sort out all types of problems on the spot. The district administration provided the necessary support through their active involvement during the two months long training period.

Post Enumeration Survey (PES)

Post Enumeration Survey (PES), which was earlier known as Post Enumeration Check (PEC) has become an integral part of the census operations in India since 1951. Till the earlier censuses, the Post Enumeration Survey used to be conducted only after the population enumeration but for the first time in the Census of India, 2001, a PES of the Houselisting Operations was also conducted after the completion of the Houselisting Operations in sixteen major states including Delhi. The main objectives of the PES for the Census of India, 2001, were (i) to get an estimate, of under coverage of census houses, (ii) to get an estimate of under coverage of population and (iii) to provide an estimate of the extent of the content error with respect to certain selected data items.

The sampling frame used for selection of samples for conducting the PES of the Houselisting Operations were the sample units of the Sample Registration System (SRS) unlike the PES of the population enumeration, where the Enumeration Blocks (EB) were used as the sampling frame.

In 1991 and earlier censuses, the PES used to be conducted in certain selected states based on the criteria of the size of the population. However, in this census, the PES was conducted in all the states and union territories of the country. In the 1991 Census, for measuring the content error, a ten per cent sub sample of households enumerated in census was selected from each Enumeration Block and the usual residents in those households were listed along with certain particulars. But at the Census of India, 2001, PES of all the households in the sampled EBs were listed along with certain particulars. Since the PES estimation methodology is based on the assumption of independence between the PES and the census operations, wherever possible, the field work in the states was carried out by the staff of the State Governments, who were specially trained for the purpose.

Basic Census Concepts and Definitions – Census 2001

It is important for the data users to familiarize themselves with the concepts and the definitions of the terms used for proper appreciations of the data contained in this publication. At the same time, it is all the more important to understand the implications of the terms used at the Census of India 2001, for making meaningful comparisons of the similar data generated by various other agencies within the country and with the data produced by other countries in the world. The concepts and definitions adopted at the Census of India, 2001 are as given below :

Generally speaking, persons who were present in the household during the entire period of enumeration or who were known to be usual residents of the household and have stayed there for part of the enumeration period or who were not present at the time of visit of the enumerator but were expected to return by 28th February, 2001 were eligible to be enumerated. For the purpose of enumeration the following persons were enumerated in a household :

Rural and Urban Areas

Census data have always been presented for rural and urban areas separately. The basic unit for rural areas is the revenue village which has definite surveyed boundaries. The revenue village may comprise several hamlets but the entire village has been treated as one unit for presentation of data. In unsurveyed area, like villages within forest areas, each habitation area with locally recognised boundaries within each forest range officer's beat, was treated as one unit. In the census of India 2001, the definition of urban area adopted was as follows :

- (a) All places with a municipality, corporation, cantonment board or notified town area committee etc.
- (b) A place satisfying the following three criteria simultaneously :
 - (i) a minimum population of 5,000;
 - (ii) at least 75 per cent of male working population engaged in non-agricultural pursuits; and
 - (iii) a density of population of at least 400 per sq. km. (1,000 per sq. mile).

For identification of places which would qualify to be classified as 'urban' all villages, which, as per the 1991 Census had a population of 4,000 and above, a population density of 400 persons per sq. km. and having at least 75 per cent of male working population engaged in non-agricultural activity were considered. To work out the proportion of male working population referred to above against (b) (ii) the data relating to main workers were taken into account.

Apart from these, the outgrowths (OGs) of cities and towns have also been treated as urban under 'Urban Agglomerations'. Examples of out-growths are railway colonies, university campuses, port areas, military camps etc. that may have come up near a statutory town or city but within the revenue limits of a village or villages contiguous to the town or city. Each such individual area by itself may not satisfy the demographic criteria laid down at (b) above to qualify it to be treated as an independent urban unit but may deserve to be clubbed with the towns as a continuous urban spread. Thus, the town level data, wherever presented, also includes the data for outgrowths of such towns.

City

Towns with population of 1,00,000 and above are called cities.

Urban Agglomerations

At the 1961 Census, the concept of 'Town Group' was adopted to obtain a broad picture relating to urban spread. This was refined in 1971 with the concept of 'Urban Agglomeration' to obtain better feed back in regard to urban contiguity, processes and trends of urbanisation and other related matters. This concept without any change or modification has remained operative in the 1981, 1991 and 2001 censuses. An Urban Agglomeration forms a continuous urban spread and normally consists of a town and its adjoining urban outgrowths (OGs), or two or more physically contiguous towns together with contiguous well recognised outgrowths, if any, or such towns. A place is identified as an out growth as follows :

In several areas around a core city or statutory town fairly large well recognised railway colony, university campus, port area, military camp etc. might have come up. Even if such places are lying outside the statutory limits of the corporation, municipality or cantonment etc.

in most of the cases they fall within the revenue limit of the village or villages which is or are contiguous to the town. Since such areas are already urbanised it is not considered realistic to treat such areas lying outside the statutory limits of a town as rural units, although a few of them may not satisfy some of the prescribed eligibility tests to qualify themselves as independent urban units. Such areas have been termed as outgrowths (OGs) and reckoned along with the town. Each such town together with its outgrowth(s) is treated as an integrated urban area and is designated as an 'urban agglomeration'. An urban agglomeration, therefore, constitutes:

- (i) A city or a town with a continuous outgrowth, the outgrowth being outside the statutory limits but falling within the boundaries of the adjoining village or villages; or
- (ii) Two or more adjoining towns with their outgrowths, if any, as in (i) above; or
- (iii) A city and one or more adjoining towns with or without outgrowths all of which form a continuous spread.

Household

A 'Household' is usually a group of persons who normally live together and take their meals from a common kitchen unless the exigencies of work prevent any of them from doing so. Persons in a household may be related or unrelated or a mix of both. However, if a group of unrelated persons live in a Census house but do not take their meals from the common kitchen, then they are not constituent of a common household. Each such person was to be treated as a separate household. The important link in finding out whether it was a household or not was a common kitchen. There may be one member households, two member households or multi-member households.

A household with at least one Scheduled Caste member is treated as Scheduled Caste Household. Similarly a household having at least one Scheduled Tribe member is treated as a Scheduled Tribe Household.

Institutional Household

A group of unrelated persons who live in an institution and take their meals from a common kitchen is called an Institutional Household. Examples of Institutional Households are boarding houses, messes, hostels, hotels, rescue homes, jails, ashrams, orphanages, etc. To make the definition more clearly perceptible to the Enumerators at the Census 2001, it was specifically mentioned that this category of households would cover only those households where a group of unrelated persons live in an institution and share a common kitchen.

Houseless Household

Households who do not live in buildings or census houses but live in the open on roadside, pavements, in hume pipes, under fly-overs and staircases or live in the open in places of worship, mandaps, railway platforms, etc., are treated as Houseless Households.

Head of the Household

The head of the household for Census purpose is a person who is recognized as such by the household. She/He is generally the person who bears the chief responsibility for managing the affairs of the household and takes decision on behalf of the household. The head of the household need not necessarily be the eldest male member or an earning member, but may be a female or a younger member of either sex. In case of an absentee de jure (head) who is not eligible to be enumerated in the household, the person on whom the responsibility of managing the affairs of household rests has to be regarded as the head irrespective whether the person is male or female.

Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes

Article 341 of the Constitution of India provides that the President may, with respect to any State or Union Territory, specify the Castes, Races or Tribes or parts of or groups within Castes, Races or Tribes which shall, for the purposes of the Constitution, be deemed to be Scheduled Castes in relation to that State or Union Territory. Similarly, Article 342 provides for specification of Tribes or Tribal Communities or parts of or groups within Tribes or Tribal Communities which are to be deemed for the purposes of the Constitution to be Scheduled Tribes in relation to the various States and Union Territories. In pursuance of these provisions, the list of Scheduled Castes and/or Scheduled Tribes are notified for each State and Union Territory and are valid only within the jurisdiction of that State or Union Territory and not outside.

It is important to mention here that under the Constitution (Scheduled Castes) Order, 1950, no person who professed a religion different from Hinduism was deemed to be a member of a Scheduled Caste in addition to every member of the Ramdasi, Kabirpanthi, Majhabi or Sikligar Caste, resident in Punjab or Patiala and East Punjab States Union in relation to that State whether they professed the Hindu or the Sikh religion. Subsequently, in September 1956, by an amendment of the Presidential Order of 1950 and in all subsequent Presidential Orders relating to Scheduled Castes, the Hindu and the Sikh Religions were placed on the same footing with regard to the specification of Scheduled Castes. Later on, as per the amendment made in the Constitution (Scheduled Castes) Order 1990, the Hindu, the Sikh and the Buddhist were placed on the same footing with regard to the recognition of the Scheduled Castes. A member of Scheduled Tribe may belong to any religion. However, a person will be reckoned as belonging to Scheduled Tribe only if the name of the Tribe appears in the list of Scheduled Tribes applicable to the State.

Literates

A person aged seven years and above who can both read and write with understanding in any language has been taken as literate. A person who can only read but cannot write has not been taken as not literate. It is not necessary that, to be considered as literate, a person should have received any formal education or passed any minimum educational standard. Literacy could also have been achieved through adult literacy classes or through any non-formal educational system. People who are blind and can read in Braille are treated as literates.

Work

Work is defined as participation in any economically productive activity with or without compensation, wages or profit. Such participation may be physical and/or mental in nature. Work involves not only actual work but also includes effective supervision and direction of work. It even includes part-time help or unpaid work on farm, family enterprise or in any other economic activity. All persons engaged in 'work' as defined above are workers. Persons who are engaged in cultivation or milk production even solely for domestic consumption are also treated as workers.

Reference period for determining a person as worker or non-worker is one year preceding the date of enumeration.

Main Worker

A person who has worked for major part of the reference period (i.e., six months or more during the last one year preceding the date of enumeration) in any economically productive activity is termed as 'Main Worker'.

Marginal Worker

A person who worked for less than six months of the reference period (i.e., in the last one year preceding the date of enumeration) in any economic activity is termed as 'Marginal Worker'.

Non-worker

A person who did not at all work during the reference period was treated as non-worker. The non-workers broadly constitute.

Students who did not participate in any economic activity paid or unpaid, household duties who were attending to daily household chores like cooking, cleaning utensils, looking after children, fetching water etc. and are not even helping in the unpaid work in the family form or cultivation or milching, dependant such as infants or very elderly people not included in the category of worker, pensioners those who are drawing pension after retirement and are not engaged in any economic activity. Beggars, vagrants, prostitutes and persons having unidentified source of income and with unspecified sources of subsistence and not engaged in any economically productive work during the reference period. Others, this category includes all Non-workers who may not come under the above categories such as rentiers, persons living on remittances, agricultural or non-agricultural royalty, convicts in jails or inmates of penal, mental or charitable institutions doing no paid or unpaid work and persons who are seeking/available for work.

Cultivator

For purposes of Census, a person is classified as Cultivator if he or she is engaged in cultivation on land owned or held from Government or held from Private persons or Institutions for payment in money, kind or share. Cultivation includes effective supervision or direction in cultivation.

A person who has given out her/his land to another person or persons or institution(s) for cultivation for money, kind or share of crop and who does not even supervise or direct cultivation of land, is not treated as Cultivator. Similarly, a person working on another person's land for wages in cash or kind or a combination of both (agricultural labourer) is not treated as Cultivator.

Cultivation involves ploughing, sowing, harvesting and production of cereals and millet crops such as wheat, paddy, jowar, bajra, ragi, etc., and other crops such as sugarcane, tobacco, ground-nuts, tapioca, etc., and pulses, raw jute and kindred fibre crop, cotton, cinchona and other medicinal plants, fruit growing, vegetable growing or keeping orchards or groves, etc. Cultivation does not include the following plantation crops – tea, coffee, rubber, coconut and betel-nuts (areca).

Agricultural Labourer

A person who works on another person's land for wages in money or kind or share is regarded as an agricultural labourer. She/he has no risk in cultivation, but merely works on another person's land for wages. An agricultural labourer has no right of lease or contract on land on which she/he works.

Household Industry Worker

Household Industry is defined as an Industry conducted by the head of the household herself/himself and or by the members of the household at home or within the Village in rural areas and only within the precincts of the house where the household lives in urban areas. The larger proportion of workers in household industry should consist of members of the household including the head. The industry should not be run on the scale of a registered factory which would qualify or has to be registered under the Indian Factories Act and should be engaged in manufacturing, processing, servicing and repairs of goods.

It does not include professions such as a Pleader, Doctor, Musician, Dancer, Waterman, Astrologer, Dhobi, Barber, etc., or merely trade or business, even if such professions, trade or services are run at home by members of the household.

Other Worker

A person who has been engaged in some economic activity during the reference period but not as a Cultivator or Agricultural Labourer or in Household Industry is termed as 'Other Worker (OW)'. The type of workers that come under this category of 'OW' include all Government Servants, Municipal Employees, Teachers, Factory Workers, Plantation Workers, those engaged in trade, commerce, business, transport, banking, mining, construction, political or social work, priests, entertainment artists, etc. In effect, all those workers other than Cultivators or Agricultural Labourers or Household Industry Workers are 'Other Workers'.

Sex-ratio

Sex-ratio has been defined as the number of females per 1000 males in the population.

$$\text{Sex-ratio} = \frac{\text{Number of females}}{\text{Number of males}} \times 1000$$

Child Sex-ratio (0-6 years)

Child Sex-ratio (0-6 years) has been defined as the number of females in age-group 0-6 years per 1000 males in the same age-group in the population.

$$\text{Child Sex-ratio (0-6 years)} = \frac{\text{Number of females children (0-6 years)}}{\text{Number of males (0-6 years)}} \times 1000$$

Literacy Rate

Literacy rate is defined as the percentage of literates to the total population aged seven years and above.

$$\text{Literacy rate} = \frac{\text{Number of literates}}{\text{Population aged 7+}} \times 100$$

Work Participation Rate

It is the percentage of total workers (main + marginal) to the total population.

$$\text{Work participation rate} = \frac{\text{Total workers (Main + Marginal)}}{\text{Total population}} \times 100$$

Location Code structure adopted in 2001 Census

In the Census 2001 the following location code structure has been adopted

Area	Number of digits
State	Two digits (within the country)
District	Two digits (within the state)
Taluk	Four digits (within the district)
Village	Eight digits (within the state)
Town	Eight digits (within the district)
Ward	Four digits (within the town)

The general pattern followed in coding of any geographical unit was a serpentine one, beginning from the North-West corner and completing at the farthest South-East corner within the State.

One of the major initiatives taken in the Census 2001 was the allotment of Permanent Location Code Number (PLCN) to each and every village within the State and not within a tahsil as in the earlier censuses. PLCN was thus assigned as one continuous number from the first village in the first district to the last village in the last district. PLCN is an eight digit unique location code number with the first six digits representing the code number of the village and the last two digits depicting two zeros '00'. These zeros are reserved as buffer to be used for coding any new village(s) that may come up between two villages in future. For example, if a new village comes up between two villages with PLCNs 00154600 and 00154700, the new village will be allotted PLCN 00154601 and so on.

The location code number for a town is also an eight digit number starting with the digit 4 situated at the extreme left acting as the unique identifier. The next two digits depict the code number of the district in which the town falls followed by two digits representing the town serial number in the district. There are three zeros at the end as buffer mainly to meet the requirement of bringing the number of digits to eight to match the number of digits in the PLCN for the villages. Thus a town location code number 40305000 represents the town serial number 5 of the district number 03 in a State.

The out-growths of towns have not been given any independent location code numbers. These have been given notional ward codes after the last ward code of the respective towns to which these OGs relate to.

The General Population Tables based on full count are presented in two parts. Part-I containing tables A-1, A-2 and A-3 has already been published. The present volume contain table A-4. Towns and urban Agglomerations classified by population size class in 2001 with variation since 1901.

A-4 : Towns and Urban Agglomerations classified by population size class in 2001 with variations since 1901

This table corresponds to table A-4 of 1951, 1961, 1971, 1981, 1991 and 2001 Censuses and Imperial table IV of earlier censuses. It gives the variation in urban population separately for males and females, decade variation and percentage decade variation for each town and urban agglomeration during the last hundred years. In addition the status of the towns and the area figures of the towns and urban agglomerations are also given in the table. The status and area figures are, however, confined to 1961, 1971, 1981, 1991 and 2001 Censuses only. The area of each town/urban agglomeration is given in square kilometres.

This table give all the towns including urban agglomerations and their population by sex since 1901 and its decadal variation. The towns/cities/urban agglomerations have been arranged in the order of population size and class of town. As in 1971, 1981 and 1991, all towns and urban agglomerations have been grouped into the following six broad classes according to population size

Class I	Population of 100,000 and above
Class II	Population of 50,000 to 99,999
Class III	Population of 20,000 to 49,999
Class IV	Population of 10,000 to 19,999
Class V	Population of 5,000 to 9,999
Class VI	Population of less than 5,000

According to the tradition of Indian Census any place with a population of 100,000 and above is called a City.

Area figures are presented as follows :

- The area of each town/urban agglomeration is given in square kilometres.
- Area figures of each town from 1961 onwards are given as supplied by the local authorities in the respective census.
- Area figures of 'All Classes' have been derived by adding the area of each class. Similarly the area figures shown for each Class' have been derived by adding the available area of urban agglomerations/constituents of urban agglomerations/towns falling under the respective class. These figures exclude the urban area of Arunachal Pradesh, Sikkim and of those urban units for which the area is not available separately in 1981, 1991 and 2001.

- In Andhra Pradesh difference of area figures 18.72 km.² between A-1 and A-4 is due to adoption of revised area figures supplied by Directorate of Census Operations for Naspur (C.T.) of Mancheriyal U.A. of Adilabad district after published the General Population Tables (India Volume).

The total number of towns and urban agglomerations in the various class ranges in India according to 2001 census are :

	No. of urban agglomerations	No. of towns
All Classes	384	3994
Class I	240	154
Class II	80	324
Class III	63	1100
Class IV	1	1345
Class V	—	879
Class VI	—	192

An alphabetical list of all towns and urban agglomerations is given at the end of the general note which will help the readers for any reference to the entries given in the table.

The total urban population of State/union Territories for each census from 1901 to 2001 is given at the beginning of the table and is followed by similar figures for class I total and the towns included in class I arranged in the order of their population size. Similarly, the total for class II followed by figures of each town included in that class arranged in the order of population and so on, are given.

Classification of towns given in this table is based on their 2001 population. As many towns have changed their class since 1901, the class totals shown in the table for previous censuses are not the totals of respective population of all towns shown in that class in 2001. They are the totals of population of all towns which on the basis of population were included in that class in those censuses except the towns which are the constituents of urban agglomerations. Some of these towns might have gone to higher or lower class and some might not have been treated as towns in later censuses. Since this table shows the growth of urban population alone, the figures of previous censuses against towns which were not treated as towns in those censuses are not given. Their population in those censuses were treated as rural. They are also not included in the class totals for any census. If any place was treated as town in some census and declassified as rural in subsequent censuses and again classified as town, then in such cases the population particulars are given only for those censuses in which it was a town and the word 'declassified' is recorded against other census years where it was declassified.

The definitions of town and urban agglomeration have already been given at length in the general descriptive note given at the beginning of this volume. As mentioned earlier, the concept of town group as adopted in 1961 was given up in 1971 and 1981 mainly on account of lack of uniformity in defining town group as applied in different States. In 1971 and 1981 Censuses, the term town group was replaced by urban agglomeration with an uniform definition throughout the country. The same concept of urban agglomeration was also adopted for 1991 and 2001 censuses. An urban agglomeration was formed by taking into account the continuous urban spread constituting a town and its adjoining urban outgrowths, or two or more physically contiguous towns together with continuous well recognised urban outgrowths, if any, of such towns.

While presenting the data of urban agglomerations, its components have been depicted with lower case in Roman serial like (i), (ii), (iii), etc. and the units treated as urban outgrowth have been shown with a suffix (O.G) against each. Where an urban agglomeration consists of two or more towns, the core towns have been shown with prefix (a), (b), (c) etc.

In striking class totals an urban agglomeration has been taken as unit not only for 2001, but also for previous censuses. As mentioned earlier the total for any class in any previous census has been worked out as the total of towns of that particular class in that particular census. They include towns which might have been individually withdrawn from urban status in a preceding or succeeding census. But a constituent of an urban agglomeration has been reckoned not according to its class in a particular census but according to the class of urban agglomeration as a whole in that census. In case of merger of towns, the merged units are considered as absorbed in the unit in which it merged. So the unit and not the merged town has been presented according to its class in each census. Where, however, a rural area has been merged with an urban area in a particular census, the population of only the urban area in censuses preceding that particular one, has been taken as the basis for that single class.

Wherever the population of a town in a previous census had to be adjusted with reference to 2001, a foot note has been inserted explaining the procedure and extent of such adjustment.

This table has been supplemented by the following two appendices :

Appendix-1 : This appendix gives, the new towns of 2001, which were not towns in 1991 and also the towns of 1991 which have been declassified in 2001, their area and the 1991 and 2001 population.

Appendix-2 : This appendix gives the towns which have undergone changes between 1991 and 2001, the brief reasons for such changes and their population at the two censuses.

- Note :
- 1 India excludes figures for Jammu & Kashmir in 1991 where 1991 census was not conducted owing to disturbed conditions.
 - 2 India excludes figures for Assam in 1981 where census of 1981 was not held.
 - *3 The constituents of an urban agglomeration where the constituents were reckoned as separate towns in their own right have been classified according to their own population and not according to the population of urban agglomeration. Where U.A. was formed with outgrowth, the population of the outgrowth(s) was added to the town, whose outgrowth it was. The combined population of town and outgrowth(s) was taken for determination of the class in the above statement.
 - #4 Being parts of ozhukarai (M) combined population of (i) ozhukarai (M) and (ii) Pillaichavadi (portion of ozhukarai (M) of Pondicherry Union Territory has been shown in this statement.
 - ^5 Includes one uninhabited town namely Badrinathpuri of Uttar Pradesh.
 - 6 Three towns of Goa; Daman & Diu, were in existence before 1950 and have been shown only in Col. 14. As their population is not ascertainable they cannot be assigned to their appropriate class.

The above statement shows that according to 2001 census, there are 5,161 towns in India, comprising of municipal areas, cantonment, notified area and non municipal areas which satisfy the criteria laid down for treating non municipal areas as towns. In 1991 the number of towns excluding Assam were 4,615. There has been a net increase of 546 towns i.e. 11.83 percent during 1991-2001. Similarly the urban population has gone up from 215,771,612 to 286,119,689 (32.60 per cent) during 1991-2001. The highest increase is noticeable in class III towns where the number of towns has increased from 1161 to 1385 during 1991-2001. The number of cities has risen from 322 in 1991 to 442 in 2001. The number of towns in class I to Class V is steadily rising since 1901. Increase may be due to natural growth of population or industrial development pushing the towns in to higher size classes. There has been a noticeable decrease in the total number of towns in 1961 Census when compared to 1951. This is occurring mostly in class V and VI towns. The decrease was due to the application of a uniform and rigid definition of urban areas adopted for the first time in 1961 census. Prior to 1961 census the definition of urban area was flexible and varied from state to state. The data given in Statement-1 have been expressed in terms of indices of growth in each class with 1901 as base in the Statement-2.

Note : 1 *India excludes figures for Jammu and Kashmir 1991 where census was not conducted owing to disturbed conditions. For comparative purposes the figures of J & K have also been excluded from 1901 to 1981.
2 India excludes figures for Assam 1981 where census of 1981 was not held.

It is observed from the above statement that except for decade 1921-31 the proportion of urban population living in Class-I towns is steadily increasing from 1901 to 2001. The proportion has increased from 21.68 per cent in 1901 to 62.29 per cent in 2001. It has more than doubled its self similar increase is noticeable in the proportion of the number of cities of Class I to total number of towns between 1901 to 2001. Here the increase has been from 1.26 per cent in 1901 to 8.54 per cent in 2001. The proportion of population living in Class-II towns to the total urban population has decreased from 11.47 per cent in 1901 to 9.63 per cent in 1911 and 11.34 in 1921. There after it steadily increased up to 2001. The proportion of population living in Class-III towns to total urban population has been steadily increasing from 16.92 per cent in 1901 to 17.08 per cent in 1981 and slightly decrease to 16.35 per cent in 1991 and 14.72 in 2001.

The proportion of population living in class-IV has been continuously decreasing from 1901-2001. The proportion of population of towns in Class-V has been continuously decreasing from 1901-2001. Except for decade 1941 the proportion of number of towns has also decreased since 1901. Similar decreasing trend is seen in the proportion of population as well as the proportion of number of towns (except 1921 and 1911) of Class-VI from 1931 to 1991. The statement illustrates that there has been a gradual increase in the number of bigger towns from census to census. The smaller towns, however, have a tendency to go up to higher classes quickly.

STATEMENT-4

PERCENTAGE OF AREA OF TOWNS IN EACH CLASS TO TOTAL URBAN AREA OF INDIA AND DENSITY OF POPULATION PER SQ. KM. IN EACH CLASS

Class VI	1.05	813	1.32	785

Note : * India figures excludes Jammu & Kashmir where 1991 Census was not conducted.

The above statement shows that the density of urban population in class II, III and V has decreased in 2001 as compared with the density in 1991. The density of population also decreases and increases generally as towns move from lower to higher and higher to lower class, Class-I towns of 2001 have the largest share of total urban area as it was in 1991 census, the proportion of area of class I towns increased from 38.92 per cent in 1991 to 39.62 per cent in 2001 due to the increase of number of towns in this class, in case of towns of class (II & III) proportion of area has increased and (IV, V & VI) has decreased as compared to 1991 census.

Statement-5 The number of cities and towns along with population of 1991 and 2001 Censuses arranged in Six classes I to VI for India, States and Union Territories is given below. Class-I towns are Sub-divided in to three categories viz. (a) cities with one million and above population (b) cities with population 500,000-999,999 population (c) cities with population 100,000 to 499,999. This statement is intended to show the movement of cities and towns from one class to another between 1991-2001 Censuses.

Note : The constituents of an urban agglomeration have been classified according to the population of the urban agglomeration except in such cases where an urban agglomeration comprises of a single town along with its out-growths.

Statement-5 reveals that the number of cities having one million and above population has gone up from 18 in 1991 to 35 in 2001 census. If we take in to account the clement of urban agglomeration., the position of cities/urban agglomeration having one million and above population according to 1991 and 2001 censuses will be as follows :

2 The constituents of an urban agglomeration have been classified according to their own population and not according to the population of the urban agglomeration, except in such cases where an urban agglomeration comprised of a single town along with its out-growth.

Statement-7 given below illustrates how cities and towns have moved from one class to another from 1981 to 1991. The figures in (a) indicate the population and number of towns which a particular class of 1991 have received by a process of decrement from the next higher class range(s), while those in (b) indicate the population and the number of towns which that particular class of 1991 have received by a process of increment from the next lower or any other lower class range, and those in (c) indicate the population and number of towns which that particular class of 1981 is passing down by process of decrement to the next lower class range(s) of 1991, Class-VII in the statement stands for towns of 1981 census deleted in 1991.

Note : 1. Excludes the figures of Jammu & Kashmir where Census was not conducted in 1991.

2. The Towns for which 1991 comparable population are either not available or Nil have not been taken in to account for both 1991 and 2001 census. A list of such towns is given in Annexure.

Statement-10 gives the percentage variation of population between 1991 and 2001 of newly added towns in 2001 census. It gives data of new towns whose 1991 population is available. The statement is followed by the one annexure as given below :

Annexure : It lists the newly added towns in 2001 for which comparable 1991 population is not available. Thus, if we take into account the figures of statement 10 alongwith the annexure the total will come up to the figures as given in statement-9.

Note : 1. Excludes 1991 figures of Jammu & Kashmir where no census was conducted in 1991.

2. Excludes 1981 figures of Assam where no census conducted in 1981.

3. *Includes uninhabited town of Badrinathpuri in Uttaranchal.

4. An urban Agglomeration has been treated as a continuing physical entry in the previous decades as a single unit and classified according to the population of Urban agglomeration in that census.

Statement-12 The above statement reveals that the number of towns increased from 1745 in 1901 to 2787 in 1951 census. In 1961 the number of towns decreased but went up in 1971, 1981, 1991 and 2001 censuses. In case of Class-I Class-II, Class-IV and Class-V, the number has been continuously increased from 1921 to 2001. In case of Class-III towns the increasing trend is seen right from 1901 to 2001. The number of towns of this class has gone up from 131 in 1901 to 1163 in 2001. In case of Class-VI towns the increasing trend is seen from 1901 to 1921 but in 1961, 1971, 1981 and 2001 there has been a heavy decline because of the applicability of rigid definition of towns in 1961 census. The number of towns of this class has gone down from 213 in 1961 to 171 in 1971, 203 in 1991 and 192 in 2001 censuses.

†† (i) At the 1991 Census, 6 Census Towns of 1981 Census (viz. Kotla population of P-65,828 (M-36,647, F-29,184), Mondoli population of P-47,891 (M-26,819, F-21,072), Nangloi Sayed population of P-9,689 (M-5,450, F-4,239), Same Pur population of P-9,147 (M-5,422, F-3,725), Mahipal Pur population of P-8,765 (M-5,139, F-3,626) and Lado Sarai population of P-6,079 (M-3,365, F-2,714) were urbanised and merged with DMC(U). Hence population of these 6 Census Towns of 1981 Census has been added up in the population of DMC(U) of this year.

(ii) In 2001 Census, Census Towns of 1981 and 1991 Censuses which were constituents of U.A. (viz., Palam P-34,378 (M-18,797, F-15,581) of 1981 Census and P-98,975 (M-53,941, F-45,034) of 1991 Census, Nasir Pur population of P-24,244 (M-13,915, F-10,329) of 1981 Census and P-81,366 (M-44,784, F-36,582) of 1991 Census and Binda Pur population of P-9,284 (M-5,048, F-4,236) of 1981 Census and P-36,148 (M-19,594, F-16,554) of 1991 Census were urbanised and merged with Delhi Municipal Corporation (Urban). As such, population of these three (3) Census Towns have been added up to the population of Delhi Municipal Corporation (Urban) of the Census Years 1981 and 1991 respectively.

££ In 1921, New Delhi (Imperial Delhi) and Delhi Cantt., with the population of P-31,456 (M-20,126, F-11,330) and P-6,272 (M-4,580, F-1,692) respectively were parts of Delhi Municipality. The combined population of Delhi (M.C.), New Delhi (M) and Delhi Cantt. for 1921 has been shown against Delhi (M.C.).

@ In 1931 Delhi Cantt. was a part of New Delhi Municipality and its population of P-8,798 (M-6,093, F-2,705) has been added in New Delhi Municipality.

* Bawana (C.T.), Ali Pur (C.T.), Pehlad Pur Bangar (C.T.), Kanjhawala (C.T.) and Pooth Khurd (C.T.) were independent towns in 1991 Census. Now these towns are shown in the Delhi U.A. in 2001 Census.

$ Kozhikode Corporation of 1961 census included Kozhikode, Edakkad, Parayancheri, Nellikkode, Kommeri and part of Puthiyangadi towns of 1961 and some adjoining rural areas. However, the population of Kozhikode for 1961 was built up by adding the population of towns of Edakkad, Parayancheri, Nellikkode and Kommeri which has been entirely merged into it. Of these except Kozhikode, all other were new towns in 1961.

In 1961 Kannur Municipality and Cantonment had been treated as separate towns. In the previous censuses these formed only one town, though the cantonment was separated from the municipal limits as early as 1st January, 1938. Hence from 1901 to 1951, its population had been included in the figures of Kannur municipal town.

$ (a) In 1961 Census, Sardarpur-Rajgarh town was formed by merging Sardarpur and Rajgarh town of 1941 Census with a population :

- (i) Sardarpur P-2,381 (M-1,282, F-1,099) in 1941; P-1,638 (M-882, F-756) in 1931.
(ii) Rajgarh P-3,524 (M-1,857, F-1,667) in 1941; P-2,772 (M-1,490, F-1,282) in 1931.

(b) Sardarpur and Rajgarh towns were shown single town as Sardarpur and Rajgarh from 1961 to 1991 but in 2001 census these towns have been separated as Sardarpur (NP) and Rajgarh (NP). The separate population of both the towns from 1961 to 1991 censuses are not available. Hence the combined population Sardarpur and Rajgarh towns from 1961 to 1991 censuses have been shown against Rajgarh town.
